Description Only one CC machine per tablet - cannot share same CC machine between multiple front desk applications.  Want backup machine setup - and ability for our backup tablet to do charges.... found out this is what the "External Credit Card" option is designed for in HK (and as i suspected, was used inappropriately by Emily for Airbnb type payments) ... External CC is for running CC, but on a device NOT connected to the same tablet. This might give us options such as taking CC payments in the mini-lobby, remote applications in addition to being a backup for both the main and the orange backup tablet.  For now, just want to play w/ an external/standalone CC machine that can serve as a backup to our main unit. According to HK, there is no extra fee for this feature - and the Merchant isn't charging us either.  The power adapter is: TSA Switching Adapter Output 8V, 2k mA, Model: FJ-SW726G0802000U P/N: DPI-8V-16W-08BP Standard input (100-240)  HK Ticket: 1048374

According to hK, there is extra charge for a new terminal not to mention a 1:1 between the tablet and terminal
