- Subject changed from Public Area to Locks for entrances / exits

With the new digital keypads we are doing for the locks, doesn't make a lot of sense to also have the key card system.

During our transition, we are going to need to keep the 3 main entrance doors unlocked. And it might stay that way if we can't find a solution. We need a lock that is slim enough to work with the glass door or fashion our new locks to work within the existing frame (something Mike has already looked at). Those new locks have passive mode were we can program them to auto unlock at certain times, so no real need to open up/lock up shop.

Eventually, will have the hotel pretty filled up - so i am not as concerned about having building lockdown every night - just have to be diligent about kicking out unwanted visitors, put up more camera's and make our video surveillance more visable. But i am fine putting a lock if a solution presents itself.
